ONE YEAR TIKVAH

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

Richard Weiss was elected the new president of Tikvah, on the 30th December, 1946, keeping the position he had held temporarily, since Tikvah's first president, Robert Langer, had resigned last November.

He was one of the five members elected to the Executive Committee earlier the same evening, from among whom, under the recently amended procedure, the president will be chosen by all members.

Meanwhile, at the first Executive Committee meeting, the various remaining posts were assigned to its members, and the com-

DOUBLE EVENT

To give birth to a child on one's first birthday is not a common occurrence; in fact, it rarely happens. If that child is only a fifth of a quintuplet or half a Siamese twin - it is still more seldom that it becomes a star from the first day it lives. But - even while you are reading this - you have become witness to this fact. for that's exactly what TIKVAH is doing today;

On its first anniversary, Tikvah proudly delivers a bouncing 9-page baby; the TIKVAH STAR!

Not that the idea was conceived only yesterday. Even while Tikvah was a kicking baby of three months itself, an own paper was suggested and - voted upon to be postponed. Now that nine more months have elapsed - well ... it's only natural that we have it.

The editorial staff has given the baby the first pat - it lives, a is here to stay, - that is, as long as we stay. It's up to every member though, to make it what it intends to be: The official organ of Tikv

LOOKING BACK

JAN. 1947

A year has gone by. An organization has grown out of nothing. Just as chance has been responsible for the start, so has hard work, enthusiasm and cooperation been responsible for the success. When Chaplain Fine, Harry Herbert and Sgt. Gorfinkle came down to Hongkew to meet a bunch of fellows for the purpose of discussing the formation of a new club, scepticism at first greeted their endeavours. But Fine's and Herbert's personalities overcame that first obstacle and the way was cleared for further action.

Our next meetings took place at the Wheelock Bldg. and Hamilton House respectively. After a lot of debating and discussing an Interim Executive Committee was elected, which had to draw up the statutes and take care of the business of the club till it would stand on firm ground and till the different members got to know each other better and be able to choose their various officers for a certain period of time. At the following two meetings the statutes were presented to the members criticised, attacked and with some slight corrections accepted by the club.

The next step was to choose a name and the one that was adopted by us might be considered as characteristic in respect to our further activities. TIKVAH - "HOPE", here lies the mainstay of our club, it is the thing we all possess, it has carried us through the first stages of our work.

When we now look back, we can say with pride that we have achieved a great deal. It was our intention to promote the welfare of our individual members in spirit, body and mind and in that we have succeeded. If you will go through our Cultural, Athletic, Social and Religious reviews you will see that our club and its members have been outstanding in each of these activities. It was also our sacred aim to promote the welfare of the Jewish people in general and here our outside activities have done a great lot in reaching this end. Our Concerts served the twofold purpose of doing our bit to charity, on one hand and proving the talent of the Jewish youth on the other. Rabbi Gordis, President of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, who was present at one of our Concerts, said that of all the things he had witnessed during his stay here, this left the greatest impression on him.

All this was the result of hard work, cooperation between officials and members who all share an equal part in the success we have achieved. Our thanks go to those who have always stood at our side whenever we have needed them. Chaplain Fine and Harry Herbert who had been with us since the beginning have been an immense asset to the club and we are sorry that both have left us already. But we still have a man, who has proven to be our greatest friend - Charles B. Jordan. Due to his untiring efforts and especially the cooperation and support we have received from Mrs. Hartwich and Mr. Kadoorie we are now the lucky possessors of a beautiful club, which has become a second home to all of us. Let us hope that we are going to cooperate with them further for the benefit of the Tikvah and of the Jewish youth in general.

(EDITORIAL? cont.) The more contributors the better. For it is also be the link for some time to come between our members here and those elsewhere, temporarily or permanent. It is here to inform and entertain ourselves as well as others. It is official only insofar as it is the own and only publication of Tikvah. Everybody who wants to contribute is invited to do so. We'll publish everything within only these limits: space, common interest and good taste. So there is nothing much else that we can say, but: The TIKVAH STAR is born - now you help to raise it!

A MESSAGE from one of TIKVAH's Hon. Advisers:

When writing reports in this newspaper which - as you hope - will be read in various parts of the world, - always bear in mind that not words alone, but mainly good deeds, such as unity among yourselves and cooperation with others count. Never forget, that you, the Jewish Youth, are the "Tikvah" of our people!

FOR YOUR INFORMATION :

The TIKVAH STAR has now appeared
And near or far, it will be cheered.

Remember that what's written here
Should not be taken too severe.

For information and delight
You read here and - should also write.

So, if you please, do not forget:
The TIKVAH STAR shall be your pet!

A TOAST TO THE NEW PRESIDENT

Friends, Jews, and Members of the Club!

I have in hope to say:
I wish that we'll be satisfied with R i c h a r d every day.

That he will guide our little club
With sense and understanding;
That we willn't have to start his term
By changing and amending.

That he will keep in mind, as always,
To keep the club away
From women, gambling and such vices;
And drinks -- as of today.

It was the will of God that he
Had more votes than the rest.
I think, we have much better men -
But God knows always best.

What's Cooking

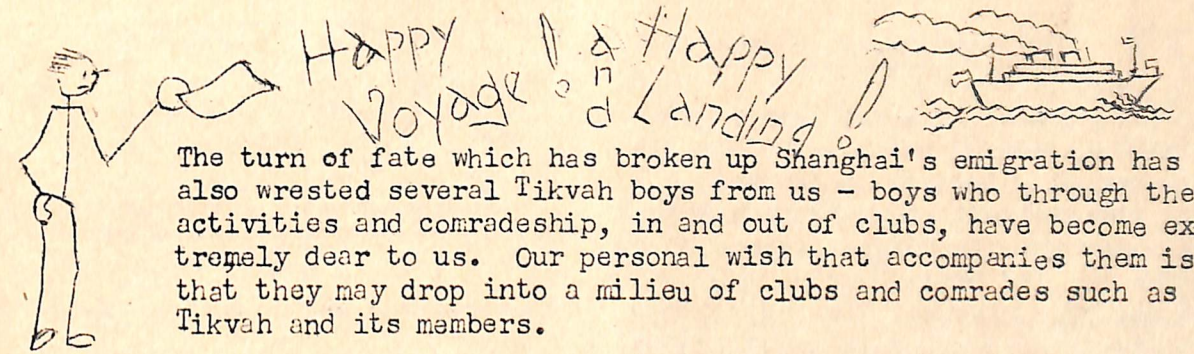

Ten minutes business meeting - 100 minutes party. This is what happened on Monday evening, January 6th, after it had become known that three of our members were to leave Shanghai within a few days. The gaily decorated room, and some poems, all prepared in a hurry but nevertheless very well made and to the point, could not quite hide the sad note which naturally is not absent from such farewell-parties.

Refreshments this time were available from the Center Canteen, and served right into our room by our old friend "Mr. Doretta". -h-

On the first day of Hanuka Tikvah had a small ceremony, when the first candle was lighted. As the previously announced ceremony at the Jewish Community Center did not take place, Tikvah invited all present members of the Center. Mr. Grodsky was kind enough to donate a bottle of kosher wine, which was distributed after Horst Seidel had lighted the candles and made the Kiddush. It was a small, short, and therefore, a nice ceremony.

The turn of fate which has broken up Shanghai's emigration has also wrested several Tikvah boys from us - boys who through their activities and comradeship, in and out of clubs, have become extremely dear to us. Our personal wish that accompanies them is that they may drop into a milieu of clubs and comrades such as Tikvah and its members.

THAT'S THE WAY TO START A NEW YEAR ! Peter Hartwich, one of the really "old stock", left on December 31, 1946, sailing off into a new year and a new life. By now he should be about halfway to his destination, Sney. Good luck, to you, Peter!

ANCHORS AWEIGH ! Hans Culmann, speechhappy opposition member, one of our best sportsmen, left friends only when he departed for the U.S.A. on the s.s. "Gen. Gordon" last Thursday morning. At his height of stature the rumored rate of two girls to one boy over there will suit him very well, especially since he has run up quite a lot of reserves over here.

Ernst Culmann, younger - and quieter - of the brotherly pair, but always taking an active interest in the club, is off for the same destination, of course.

On the same boat, Freddy Alexander is heading for Bolivia. Though the youngest of our bunch and one of our newest members, we'll always remember him as one who was at hand whenever a job was to be done.

MORE GAPS IN OUR RANKS.

"Lippy" Karl Sondheimer who had been residing at Nanking for the last few months, but was always heading straight for Tikvah whenever he came back to Shanghai for a few days, will be off to the States on January 15th. Walter Kornhaber, a charter member, treasurer of our scanty funds for one year, and now also in the editorial committee, is about to depart for - Austria. With him we lose one of our most active members here. He seriously intends, though, to carry on the work started over here, and found a branch of Tikvah in Vienna. We know that he's got the stuff in him to do it, if it's at all possible, and we can assure him that in this effort he can count on our active support. Our special wishes for you, Walter, are, that you may really find a home there again. -hc off smoothly. Mrs. Hartwich, only one of Tikvah's adviser's present, read the names off the balloting slips, and took opportunity to reiterate her assurance that Tikvah can always rely on her cooperation and support.

The new president then performed his first official act by declaring this last meeting of a term and a year closed.

Meanwhile, it was also announced that the various sub-committees have been appointed, one member of the Executive Committee being represented in each of them. -hc

TIKVAH OUT FRONT!

A Review of Last Year's Activities

Tikvah's constitution demands a promotion of the spiritual, intellectual and physical welfare of its members, and our sports committee under the leadership of A. Kohn, K. Wolf and R. Weiss was consequently bound to fulfill part of this requisite, which was a comparatively easy assignment considering the willing and highly potential material on hand. Lately, able assistance was given them by the well-known sportsman and trainer, Mr. Leo Meyer, who was appointed Tikvah's physical advisor.

Tikvah's sports equipment consisted of a ping-pong table that we were using through the courtesy of the J.R.C. At times forty of us could be observed fighting madly, cursing vilely and perspiring heavily - all for a turn to wield a piece of wood covered with rubber or cork to suit the players' fancy, and make it clash resoundingly with a white, round celluloid sphere, intended, to jump by various cunning means, over a set of strings knotted to form holes. After this feat had been accomplished the lucky players would retire to a corner with a radiant expression on their faces and complacently regard the doings about them, - until they recuperated and felt strong enough to rejoin the struggle of "10 minutes at the ping-pong table." - In the meantime we had been asked to return the table and our thwarted members raised a hue and cry until another was procured that is now private property of Tikvah. (Writer's note: I hope that this exaggerated description of Tikvah's doings on the J.R.C. table will not create unfounded rumours with regard to its present condition.)

Tikvah furthermore possesses a volleyball, net, and team that are dragged out of our room every time a member feels like stretching his arms towards the sky.

This puts a full-stop to our equipment - but not to our activities. We have extremely capable and dynamite-loaded, or to be more modern, atomic-loaded fists that are put to work twice a week in the J.R.C. gym. Tikvah feet also pound and dash miles and yards, and kick footballs. A Sunday morning sun is sure to shine on Tikvah-boys in the

WANTED: MORE TROPHIES

Right now Tikvah is hunting for the medals and cups of the Ping-Pong Section. The first team, Eichwald, Weiss, Deutsch and Morgenstern, is the favorite for permanent honors, having already vanquished the "Community Center" 9:5 and Embankmen 9:0 (walkover). Tikvah's main opponents in the first division have already lost two points or more - so let's hope for trophies. Tikvah II will have more of a fight, having lost one game vs. Blue - White 5:9. Nevertheless, they already have three victories to their name - vs. A.H.V. 9:3, Blue-White III 9:2, Betar 9:0 and still stand a chance of making tops.

Following the conclusion of league game there will be several other ping-pong competitions, such as the Theodor Herzl Cup Singles Championship, and others.

Volleyball has been taken up quite enthusiastically by about ten of our members, and after several intensified trainings we should be able to line-up quite a "Star-Team". There would be a multitude of opponents in all classes.

Softball has slumbered to a peaceful rest again since the time when it had been roused by Tikvah. Apparently it is not as fascinating to us as to our American brethren. Nevertheless, it would only be fair and sportsmanlike to give it just another chance.

volleyball court, playing tennis, and - lately even American football.

These well-distributed interests and thorough training of our members in all sports-sections, have culminated in an overwhelming victory of Tikvah during the Jewish Sports Week. Of the three track events that took place, we came second in the 80-yards; first, second and third in the Mile, and first in the relay. Our flag was hoisted again at Ping-Pong - second and third -, and our five boxer-members fighting for the J.R.C. gained one T.K.O., one K.O., two victories on points, and one draw.

This is, in short, a record that can hardly be surpassed and is rivaled only by the other sections of Tikvah. Nevertheless, it is not our intention to relax and sit on our laurels, but by intensifying the physical activities of our members, continue promoting our constitution, even better than in the past.

Speaking of PARTIES 000 REVIEWING LAST YEAR'S SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Tikvah's activities along all lines have always been dominated by the directives of its constitution, and in sponsoring parties, amusement and various other social activities, we have complied with the demand for a promotion of spiritual, intellectual and physical welfare of all desirable young Jewish men. It is of great importance to comprehend the necessity of social activities as a balance of the three sections - it being an in-between, a buffer of sports on one side, or culture on the other. Social programs should possess and combine the amusement, outdoor life and sportsmanship that are derived from physical activities, with the intelligence, power of concentration and intellectual standard of cultural work.

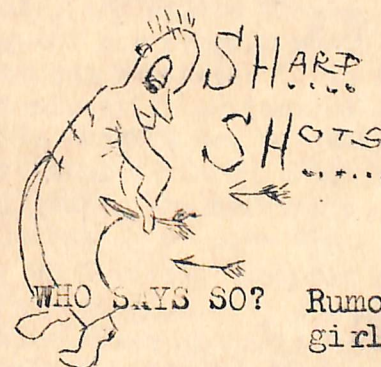

Inasmuch as such an extremely difficult task is possible for a club like Tikvah, it has been our constant endeavour to establish this balance in the course of its extensive social activities. In the past year we have arranged and sponsored numerous parties, of which the most conspicuous were the farewell parties for our founders, Chaplain Fine and Harry Herbert, and our Victory Party for the outstanding feats of our athletes. These parties that have often been attended by high-ranking Jewish officials, such as Mrs. Hartwich, Chaplain Fine, Mr. Herbert, Mr. Jordan, Chaplain Adler, Chaplain Bregor, etc., did not at all detract our other activities, not even the social ones, for we reinforced the latter with small, comfortable get-togethers where recitations and discussions amongst the various members shaped the evening into a more enjoyable one, than some of the formal parties did. It is these snug affairs and also the parties that create lasting impressions and traditions in our members.

Which Tikvah-boy does not know about the crooning contest where the writer was presented with the prize before he was halfway through the song? There were two versions explaining this phenomenon. Thirty-nine of our forty members represented the view that since the crooning had been so horrible they'd rather give him the prize than let him continue and finish. The other version was taken by the residual one member who maintained that due to the brilliant crooning the audience, being totally convinced of the abilities and superiority of the crooner, declared him winner without hearing him to the end. (Three guesses who that one was?) Or who forgot the times when we crowded Chaplain Fine's jeep on the way home to an extent that the boys were sitting on the hood and fenders? (I was told that somebody having found no place at all, clung to the chassis!) Do you still remember the affair one of our Hon. Advisor's had with a bunch of pin-up girls? (Now don't get me wrong!) Will you ever ever forget "Unser Club wie er ist, taderissabim bambum", the refrain of a song introduced by Harry Methner at the Victory Party we launched?

Thus these get-togethers and parties have not only furnished us with a momentary pleasure but also with some lasting humorous souvenirs that refresh and enliven these memories of the past - that bind us to them and the Club at present. It is with eagerness that we look forward to our socials, so carefully superintended and staged by Peter Liepman, Walter Eichwald and various others. It is there that you find your friend that have aims, either physically, spiritually or intellectually, that concord entirely with yours, and it is there, with them, that you proceed to develop and further these ideals on a basis of common understanding and friendship attained at parties and informal meetings, balanced to make the extreme sport meet the extreme culture. R. Weiss Malicious gossip brushin past the Tikvah doors keeps asking in a hushed voice why our membership roll embrace only boys, and shouting through a megaphone that we haven't found girls worthy to enter our roll and file, the Tikvah blasted Mr. Gossip into the four directions of the wind, where he leads a miserable and downtrodden existence, nourished slightly by jealous skirts..... Remarkable what an important position female mentality occupies in the affairs of men - the Youth Council having come to a deadlock, decided to accept female representatives into its round-table-conferences. The two ladies in question are even known to have voiced a total of one opinion each, consisting of three long words and two short ones in the course of the last four meetings. A boom has been noticed ever since..... Max Buchbaum has been heard furiously telling one of our leading welterweights to stop boxing, if he wants to "pummeln"; the two don't mix... .. I would definitely advise some of the people that have lately come into the Tikvah premises to swallow large quantities of vitamin (their lack of teeth is distressing..... Tikvah is looking for an experienced accountant to check their books - - our treasurer is leaving for Austria..... It has been definitely established that the most popular guy in our club is a blond violin-player who suggests boxing bou instead of concerts (may be that's the way he feels he feels about his violin)..... Amongst our Constructive Criticism it would be wise to ask for a check of our Executive Committee, - who knows, - they might not even be members of our club..... (R. Weiss)

PERSONAL AD: Wish of a 19-year old refugee boy in Shanghai, Hongkew: I want to have a girl who is jealous of my girl-friend.

EXPANSION: A branch of Tikvah will soon be opened in Sidney and in Vienna.

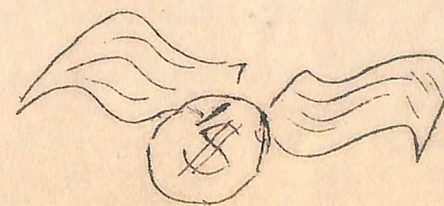

WHO SAYS SO? Rumors have it that Tikvah boys belong to the tribe of girl-haters. Is that true?

DEMENTI: It is not true that two of the new representatives of the Community Center in the Youth Council represent the kindergarten.

YOU DON'T SAY ! Youth Council Meetings take place as follows: Someone brings up a motion. Another one seconds the motion. Someone brings up a motion to vote upon the previous motion. The vote decides that no vote shall be taken. Therefore it is decided to decide at the next meeting.

AMONG OTHER THINGS: (WHAT?) Contribute to the ice-box Tikvah is intending to buy for the summer.

(p. Liepmann)

 * A REVIEW of our CULTURAL EVENTS *

It is of course understood that every development in any club must go hand in hand. So, also our cultural development has progressed remarkably in the course of the first year of our existence. This progress is proof that our members constitute a very active part of the Jewish youth in Hongkew, and it should not be forgotten that our ex-president, Bobby Langer, was responsible to a large extent for this progress.

A matinee that we sponsored for the benefit of the needy Jewish children in Europe was a great success, also financially, and was excellently criticized by the Shanghai press. This matinee not only involved our own members, but also some other young artists who contributed to a very large extent to the success of this performance. It gave proof that the war years have not completely killed the interest for culture among ourselves. In August we sponsored a concert of classical music, in which Walter Saphir, Kurt Saphir, and Gritta Glogau, shared the honors of the big program which included Schubert, Handel, Beethoven (Trio c-moll), Grieg, Wieniavski, Tchaikovsky and Liszt. Also this concert was heartily applauded by the grateful audience which also included many adults who naturally still have the prejudices of by-gone times.

We have had lectures by Chapl. Adler on "Jews in America", Mr. Leo Rissin of the China Press on "World Politics", and Mr. Jordan on "Jewish Writers in America". We have also started with lectures by our own members, and have had some quiz evenings, and debates.

Our first anniversary will very aptly be celebrated with another concert in which a number of star-artists are taking part. Still another one, featuring again young artists, is in the preparatory stage.

So we see that there is no let up but rather increasing interest in this part of our program, and this augurs well for the future.

music. Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite", one of the eight pieces presented, deserves special attention. Here Disney outdid himself, presenting flowers, mushrooms, fishes and elves to dance and caper to the rhythm of music. Stokowski and Philadelphia Philharmonic orchestra are, of course, invaluable to the picture, and provide a treat by themselves. -- All in all, a definite "must" for lovers of good music.

 * BOOKS IN THE NEWS *

"THE BLACK BOOK"

A horribly fascinating book, aptly bound in black, has recently been published in the United States. "The Black Book", as it is called, was compiled by various Jewish organizations which made a point of collecting all available data of the terrible deeds of the Nazis against the Jewish people. Photographs, charts, reprints of official German decrees, all combined to make this volume the most complete bill of indictment against the German people.

The complete material in its manuscript form was submitted as evidence to the War Crimes Tribunal in Nuremberg.

 by which RKO Radio Pictures advertises the latest

Walt Disney in town. The movie which runs, incidentally, for two full hours is most certainly a new form of entertainment. The execution of the novel idea of interpreting music by colorful pictures could not have been put into abler hands than Walt Disney's.

The pictures on the screen mirror the thoughts and imaginations which would come to the listeners if they would sit back and close their eyes. Thus, f.i., Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D-minor which is a piece of absolute music, suggests strange figures floating through space, waves which turn into flashes of lightning and other fantastic forms. The picture follows the mood and tempo of the music down to the tiniest details.

The program is chosen with care and presents some of the world's best music.

One Man's View - for All of You

This column shall deal with the most important political news in general and the which concerns us Jew specifically. - To summarize the main political events shortly we might as well start with recalling that the peace treaties for the axis satellites Roumania, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Italy were concluded. Although there were differences during this Paris Peace Conference, especially over the Trieste and the "free navigation for everyone on the Danube" issues, the Big Three showed their good will and finally came to an understanding. It remains to be seen if the numerous obstacles for the peace treaties for Austria and Germany will be overcome. These treaties will probably be concluded by spring this year, on the pressure of U.S. Secretary of State Byrnes, against the view of the Soviet Union which maintains that a time is not yet ripe for such a step. Meanwhile here in China civil strife is going on with undiminished ferocity, and the same applies to Indonesia and Vietnam (formerly the two French-governed provinces of Annam and Cambodia) in the Far East. In China the Kuo Min Tang party did not come to an agreement with the Communists, although the special presidential envoy and mediator, U.S. Gen. Marshall, and U.S. Ambassador to China, Leighton Stuart, exerted their utmost influence upon both parties. The new constitution proved to be the main obstacle for the conciliation of the two divergent opinions, and Communist negotiator, Gen. Chou En Lai, declared that negotiations will be severed completely, should the constitution be put into effect. - Heavy fighting is going on in Vietnam between the Vietnamese and the French forces. France does not consent to the Vietnamese demand to get the status of an independent republic, but has sent reinforcements comprising also a large percentage of foreign legion troops there. Besides, Gen. Leclerc, one of the finest French generals during World War II, has been commissioned to direct military operations there. A fierce battle in the vicinity of Hanoi is now in progress. - Negotiations and combat are intermittently taking place in the former Dutch East Indies possessions, now commonly known as Indonesia. Center of trouble is Java, densest populated of the islands, where also Batavia, the capital, is located. Also here the claim for complete independence is put forward by the Indonesians. The Dutch who exercised the most liberal colonial policy before the war, are anxious not to lose this rich colony on which they largely depend. They have made certain concessions, but their minimum demand is that the islands remain an integral part of the Netherlands under the crown of Queen Wilhelmina. In this they are supported by Great Britain, which fears that an independent republic might be of a disadvantageous effect on the Indian situation, which is a separate chapter. No agreement has been reached yet. - The situation in Palestine looks rather gloomy still. Immigrants beyond the ridiculous quota of 1500 a month are continually deported to Cyprus. It is not certain yet if the Jewish Agency will take part in the next Palestine Conference set for January 21st, in London, as the Zionist World Congress in Basle has come to the conclusion that cooperation on the part of the Jews depends on certain concessions to be made by Great Britain. It seems doubtful if an agreement may be expected, the Arab League exerting their utmost influence to frustrate any scheme of a Jewish independent state. The terroristic activity of the Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern group has now led to the first anti-Jewish riots in England. In reaction to that an anti-terroristic league within the Yishuv has been founded which bears the characteristic name "Thou Shalt Not Kill". Our only future hope remains the U. S. whose influence in Near East affairs has been strengthened considerably by the recent oil treaty, through which the United States is to share with Great Britain a great percentage of the oil in the Near East. Let us hope that our only real friend, the U. S. A., will not fail to support us in our righteous struggle for an independent Jewish state.
